To Whom it May Concern:

It's my great pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Construction Concepts, Mark Dewey, Steve Groble and Dave Swinney.

I were referred to Construction Concepts earlier this year when we decided to add 2000 square feet to our existing business, consisting of new showrooms and an indoor pool. I was specifically looking for a company with a reputation of competence and solid business ethics. My expectations were simple, namely, that they do quality work, get it completed on time and be honest with me throughout the process. I was not disappointed at any time. As the nature of this project was quite unique, there were many times that the plans needed to be modified, whether for purposes of "value engineering" or reinforcing elements to provide long term structural integrity. In each circumstance I was impressed and satisfied with the outcome. Whether I was dealing with the Supervisor, Project Coordinator, or Owner, they all made me feel that they had prioritized my project.

At one point we fell a few weeks behind schedule and I asked for a status meeting with Steve and Dave. When I expressed my concerns about meeting our scheduled completion date, they gave me no excuses, just their assurance that they would do what ever it took to get back on schedule. They brought in extra workers and put crews on overtime. As a result of their diligence, we received our Certificate of Occupancy one day before our scheduled completion date!

Upon completion of the project they wanted to go a step further and perform additional finish work on the existing building that would better tie it into the new section. This was done at no additional charge to me and resulted in a much nicer looking finished product.

To summarize, I recommend Construction Concepts, without reservation, and would not hesitate in calling them for my next project.

Sincerely,
